how much EcoZap® do i need?

although circumstances differ, a rule of thumb would be about one kilogram per house, thinly applied to areas where cockroaches or other pests can get in contact with the powder. as the powder is not conductive it can be used in distribution boards and other electrical appliances - pests actually use electric ducts to get around. remember the back and underneath fridges, dishwashers and other equipment which might harbour roaches! any dark, moist and warm environment near a food source must be considered a potential cockroach harbourage.

a often neglected place to treat is the inside of built-in cupboards and drawer wells - which is also something to remember even prior to renovating that kitchen or even building a home.

ecozap has also been effectively used in home foundations and underneath floor screeds [especially wood] where the active ingredient kills termites - one of the inert ingredients of ecozap will actually kill fleas in for instance the bedding of your pet.

restaurants, lodges, guest houses and apartment blocks have been treated successfully and may approach us for bulk orders.

yours in Jesus Christ
